

Biomass: From Grow to Go

A Field Day and Workshop Event

This two-date event will feature independent programs on biomass production and utilization. Come see why biomass is a leading source of clean, renewable energy.

Hear from biomass experts, see demonstrations of production equipment, tour switchgrass fields, visit one of the world's first demonstration-scale cellulosic ethanol biorefineries, and see commercial-scale biomass processing and handling at Tennessee's Biomass Innovation Park.

Event schedules and registration information will be forthcoming. Please mark these dates on your calendar for this exciting event!

Tuesday

October 25, 2011

Wednesday

October 26, 2011

Vonore, TN

Visit www.renewablecarbon.org for more information about biomass and bioenergy research and development at the University of Tennessee's Center for Renewable Carbon and for more information about our R&D partners.

Hosted by:

